Art Unit: 2152

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 10, 20 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Larson et al., US Pat. No. 5,907,324 in view of DeSimone et al., US Pat. No. 6,138,144.

3. As to claims 1, 10, 20 and 25, Larson teaches the invention substantially as claimed. Larson teaches a server maintaining a conference and various profiles of the conferences. These profiles may be retrieved by clients on the network (Larson, col. 1, line 65 – col. 2, line 67).

However, Larson does not explicitly teach two servers, one for maintaining a conference and a second type to maintain a list of conferences. In the same field of endeavor, DeSimone teaches maintaining a first type of servers disposed to manage data of a first type and a second type storing a list of the first type (DeSimone, col. 3, line 55 – col. 4, line 21 and col. 4, line 65 – col. 6, line 57). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated multiple conference tracking as taught by DeSimone into the conferencing system of Larson for the purpose of enhancing network efficiency.

4. Claims 2-4, 7, 15, 17, 21, 22, 26 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Larson-DeSimone in view of Chu et al., US Pat. No. 6,006,331.

Art Unit: 2152

5. As to claims 4, Larson-DeSimone teach the invention substantially as claimed. However, Larson-DeSimone does not explicitly teach the use of an internet locator service (ILS) type of server. In the same field of endeavor, Chu teaches the use of an ILS server (Chu, col. 7, line 36 – col. 8, line 60). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated the ILS server as taught by Chu into the system of Larson-DeSimone for the purpose of enhancing system efficiency by implementing a dynamic directory structure.

6. As to claims 2, 3, 7, 15, 17, 21, 22, 26 and 27, Larson-DeSimone-Chu teach maintaining a user list through use of conference objects having addresses and connection status (Larson, col. 1, line 65 – col. 2, line 67 and DeSimone, col. 4, line 65 – col. 6, line 57).

7. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Larson-DeSimone-Chu in view of Lister et al., US Pat. No. 6,167,446.

8. As to claim 5, Larson-DeSimone-Chu teach the invention substantially as claimed. However, Larson-DeSimone-Chu does not explicitly teach the use of a NT Directory Server (NTDS). In the same field of endeavor, Lister teaches the use of an NTDS (Lister, col. 9, line 62 – col. 10, line 23). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated the NTDS as taught by Lister into the system of Larson-DeSimone-Chu for the purpose of implementing a widely known and used server into the network.

9. Claims 6, 8, 9, ~~11~~^{CANCELLED}, 14, 16, 18, 19, 23, 24, 28 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Larson-DeSimone-Chu-Lister in view of Kumar, US Pat. No. 6,163,531.

10. As to claim 9, Larson-DeSimone-Chu-Lister teach the invention substantially as claimed. However, Larson-DeSimone-Chu-Lister does not explicitly teach the use of Session Description Protocol (SDP). In the same field of endeavor, Kumar teaches the implementation of SDP in a distributed conferencing system (Kumar, col. 5, line 26 – col. 6, line 67). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated the SDP as taught by Kumar into the conferencing system of Larson-DeSimone-Chu-Lister for the purpose of efficient management of conferencing properties and information.

11. As to claim 19, Larson-DeSimone-Chu-Lister-Kumar discloses the use of ILS and NTDS (DeSimone, col. 7, line 36 – col. 8, line 60 and Lister, col. 9, line 62 – col. 10, line 23)

12. As to claims 6, 8, 23, 24 and 28, Larson-DeSimone-Chu-Lister-Kumar teaches security features for authenticating users (DeSimone, col. 7, line 13-49).

13. As to claims 11-14, 16 and 18, Larson-DeSimone-Chu-Lister-Kumar teaches setting up a conference, determining participation of conference, querying and updating conference profiles

Art Unit: 2152

(DeSimone, col. 3, line 55 – col. 4, line 21 and col. 4, line 65 – col. 6, line 57).

14. As to claim 29, Larson-DeSimone-Chu-Lister-Kumar teach a system wherein data of the first type is dynamic and second type is static (DeSimone, col. 3, line 55 – col. 4, line 21 and col. 4, line 65 – col. 6, line 57).

15. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-29 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. The Applicant argued in substance that the prior art of record does not teach a first server and a second server as claimed. The new grounds of rejection teaches this feature.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
